

VoIP provider, ISPhone opens Melbourne office and PoP

Wholesale 'business grade' VoIP service provider, ISPhone Australasia, has opened an office and added a network PoP in Melbourne. It claims that the move is a response to the growing demand for business grade VoIP in Melbourne and across Victoria.

National business development manager, Beth Mackenzie, said the new office would give the company's Victorian partners access to local training, support, sales and marketing resources.